

Shi Wenjie

师文杰

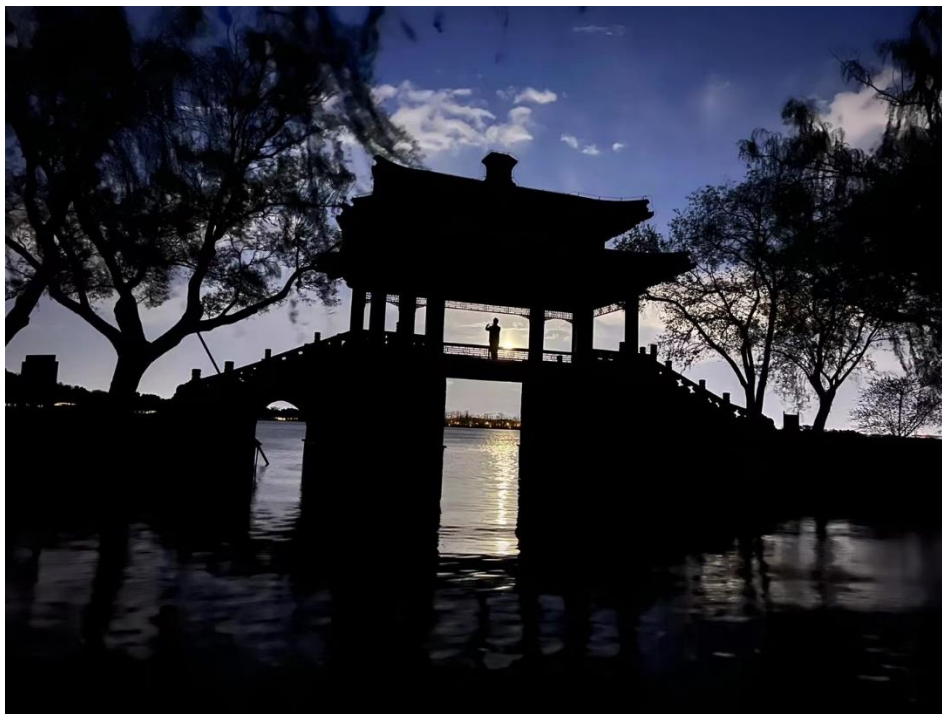

Stars-and-Moon-Lit Summer Palace

星空与月夜·颐和园

Be it merry or melancholic in tunes
The stars are twinkling to a melody of spring night.
The rhythm echoes among visitors alone
Walking faster for ways out or
Strolling softly for peace of twilight.

Hilltop towers, temple houses, waterfront pavilions
Are bathed in silver light,
Radiating ripples of lake water
Shimmering by the lakeside pagoda.

The full moon beaming fine
Rises with thin clouds floating nearby
Inspiring the lyrics of poets
To verses of lofty ideals or earthly appeals.

Summer Palace Lakeside 星空与月夜·颐和园

– photo by SHI Wenjie 师文杰