

Vijay Singh Thakur

The magic of rain

The strength is in the soil or the seed
in that magic of rain which conjoins the seed with the soil and cracks the life to sprout to become and being what it could be:
the plant, the tree, the flower, the fruit, and again – the seed In every being of nature different beings of life are connected with the invisibly inseparable bond of the soil; the rain; and the seed; and every life in the universe has to take its path from the destinies of this bond; the net of every life is knit by the reciprocal bond of this mutually-bound relationship from the pure mind, pure heart, pure conscience, and pure commitment?
And:
Have we soulfully realized it in our life?
(Have we gained the real magic of rain?)